TRUST MAGNATES AT WHITE HOUSE

Visit of Gary and Frick Causes Comment.

Financial Situation Discussed With President.

Startling Coincidence With Call of E. H. Harriman.

CAMPAIGN LETTER RECALLED.

Washington, Nov. 4.—[Special].—E. H. Gary, chairman of the Steel Trust, and Henry C. Frick, the Pittsburgh millionaire and steel man, were the first visitors at the White House this morning to see the President, an engagement having been made for them yesterday. Messrs. Gary and Frick took every precaution to conceal their identity, even going so far as to drive up to the White House in a dilapidated night liner.

After spending two hours with the President they took the train for New York and will confer with J. Pierpont Morgan to-night. The two magnates came to see the President about the heved the particular point discussed were the recommendations which would be made by the President to Congress in December.

President Acted Hastily.

The semi-official announcement Saturday to the effect that the President was considering the calling of an extra session of Congress to consider the financial legislation was simply another instance where the President acted hastily. If the situation demanded it, the House Banking and Currency Committee or the Senate Finance Committee could meet, just as the Ways and Means Committee meets in advance of

The evils of the Steel Trust of which Mr. Gary is at the head, are almost too well known for repetition. The corporation, which has been the cause of so much total capitalization being approximately one billion five hundred million dollars. It is a true typical trust in the original sense of the word, because it has been formed by the combination of various constituent companies and ind-votes from directors of the constituent concerns. Every man in the United States pays tribute to this gigantic corporation, for it controls the price of everything that is manufactured of steel, which everyone is compelled to use.

Owes G. O. P. Millions.

It is indebted to the Republican party to the extent of millions of dollars. The tariff profits alone of this corporation vary from forty million dollars to eighty million dollars a year. This is roughly and conservatively estimated by the difference between what the trust chase foreigners and what it charges the American farmer, mechanic and man who uses steel or ~~iron~~ in any shape or form.

Mr. Frick, who was Mr. Gary's companion at the White House to-day, was one of the main factors in bringing about the acquisition of Mr. Frick having an option on the Carnegie Steel Company.

A Startling Coincidence.

Through a startling coincidence the visit of Messrs. Gary and Frick is almost to the day the third anniversary of E. H. Harriman's appearance in Washington at the President's request. Here is what the President wrote Mr. Harriman:

I am weeks hence before I write my message I shall get you to come down to discuss certain Government matters.

Harriman came the week immediately bere the election, just as Mr. Gary and Mr. Frick came to-day. What followed the interview between Mr. Harriman and the President is best told by Mr. Harriman, who in his letter to Sydney Webster said in part:

* * *

Mr. Harriman's Letter.

About a week before the election in the autumn of 1904, when it looked certain that the State ticket in New York would go Democratic and was doubtful as to Roosevelt himself, he, the President, sent me a request to go to Washington and confer upon the political conditions in New York State. I complied and he told

But he understood the campaign could not be successfully carried on without sufficient money. He asked for the necessary funds from the National Committee, under control of Chairman Cortelyou, had utterly failed of obtaining them. I came back to New York, sent for Treasurer Bliss, who told me I was their last hope and that they were depending on me. I was in the room in his presence I called up an intimate friend of Senator Depew, told him that it was necessary in order to carry New York State that $300,000 should be raised at once and if he would help I would subscribe $50,000. After a few words over the teleto know, which he did probably in three or four hours, with the result that the checks were cashed and the money had been raised. The checks were given to Treasurer Bliss. This amount enabled the New York State Committee to conduct a campaign in which it received at least 50,000 votes were turned in the city of New York alone, make a difference of 100,000 in the general result.

Now, there is a question almost to the day, there is another conference ostensibly to consider a President's message, the conferees being men as closely allied with corporate interests as the conferees at the first conference. Are leaders in the nation in close conference with the trust magnates, how could it be expected that a Republican candidate for Governor of Kentucky

REFUSED TO SEAL

DEPOSITION MADE BY LATE CASSIE CHADWICK.

Pennsylvania Supreme Court In Opinion Declares the Matter Insignificant.

Pittsburg, Nov. 4.—The Supreme Court of Pennsylvania refused to seal the deposition of the late Mrs. Cassie L. Chadwick, who was an important witness in the case of the Commonwealth vs. John W. Hager, Jr., and his wife, who were charged with the murder of John W. Hager, Sr., president of the Pressed Steel Car Company, for an accounting of certain stock transactions amounting to about $1,000,000.

Ever since the deposition was secured from Mrs. Chadwick while a prisoner in the Ohio Penitentiary at Columbus, it has been the subject of bitter controversy. Many sensational reports of its contents have been circulated. The belief that startling admissions were contained in the deposition gained currency through the efforts of counsel for Hoffstot and Friend to have the document sealed as ordered by the lower court. In making the document public Chief Justice Mitchell said:

"When this case was on trial the court below, for reasons no doubt sufficient at the time, ordered a certain deposition to be sealed, and we are now asked to continue the same. We have, therefore, examined the deposition and find it of so little importance as to cause surprise that any question was ever made about it. The deposition is not material to any question in this case, and it is plain that the opposing counsel in their motion are guided by their client's over-sensitiveness rather than by their own good judgment. The whole matter is so insignificant we have no reason to depart from the usual course of practice. The motion to continue the sealing is therefore denied."

CASHIER FEARED A RUN ON HIS BANK

WORRIED OVER THE MATTER UNTIL IT DROVE HIM TO SUICIDE.

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 4.—A Huntsville, Ala., dispatch says: Yielding to the appeal under which he had labored for the last ten days, James R. Boyd, cashier of the Huntsville Bank and Trust Company, killed himself in the dining room at his home this morning, firing a bullet through his brain. He was dead when his wife reached him.

Intimate friends of the dead man say that he has labored under a high nervous strain for several days, and feared that a run would be made on his bank and that there would not be enough money to weather the storm.

Boyd's suicide caused a sensation in financial circles, but an examination of his books proved everything to be all right. Boyd was president of the Huntsville City Council. He was forty-five years old and leaves a widow and two children.

READY FOR EMERGENCIES

Mayor and Board To Sit All of To-day.

Chief Maher Charged With Republican Activity.

Grand Jury Instructed As to Concealed Weapons.

MORE DEPUTY SHERIFFS.

Mayor Bingham and members of the Board of Public Safety kept in touch with their offices at the City Hall all last night, and will remain at their desks in the City Hall all of to-day. The reason assigned by them for keeping so close in touch with the situation was that they wanted to be in a position to act promptly in all cases where complaint is made against members of the police and fire departments, and others holding subordinate city positions, relative to undue political activity on their part.

"We mean to have a fair election to-morrow," said Mayor Bingham yesterday afternoon, "and I don't think we will have any serious trouble. We are prepared, however, to meet any emergency which may arise."

The Mayor issued a proclamation yesterday relative to saloons, in which he called attention to the law which required all saloons to close at midnight and remain closed until to-morrow morning. Later the Board of Public Safety sent a communication to Col. J. H. Hager, Chief of Police, bearing on the saloons. The communication follows:

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 4, 1907.—Chief of Police: The Board of Public Safety directs you and all police officers and men to see that the law regarding the closing of saloons on to-morrow (the day of election) is strictly enforced. No saloon may be open for any purpose whatsoever. If any saloon is found with any door or window open or with any person or persons in same the proprietor will immediately be called before the court. In making the purpose of revocation of license. See that this order is carried out to the letter.

JOHN D. GREGORY,
Board of Public Safety.

CHARGED WITH ACTIVITY.

Chief Maher Cited For Alleged Republican Partisanship—Consults Republican Attorney.

Capt. Thomas Maher, Chief of Detectives, has been notified by Col. J. H. Hager, Chief of Police, that he is to be charged with Republican partisanship. Maher was called before the Board of Public Safety to answer charges to the effect that he had been unduly active in politics. Maher was unduly active in politics, Maher was unduly active in politics, Maher was unduly active in politics.

Col. Hager Delays His Report.

Complaint against Capt. Maher was made by Mr. Moore on Saturday. Mayor Bingham assured Mr. Moore that he would have the Chief of Police prefer charges against Capt. Maher immediately. He instructed Col. Hager to prefer these charges and supposed that he had done so until late yesterday afternoon, when he was informed to the contrary. When told that no charges as yet had been filed before the board against Capt. Maher, Col. Hager said that he had not yet preferred charges, but that he was waiting until he could get into communication with Mr. Moore. He said that he had not yet preferred charges, but that he was waiting until he could get into communication with Mr. Moore.

Riley Given More Time.

In the case of Thomas Riley, Inspector of Gasoline Lights, who was summoned to appear before the Board of Public Works yesterday to answer charges of undue political activity, the board decided to give him further time in which to prepare his defense. Riley was before the board yesterday and told them he would be ready for a hearing Thursday.

CHARGE TO GRAND JURY.

Judge Pryor Lays Particular Stress On Carrying Weapons.

After organizing the November grand jury yesterday Judge Pryor, in the Criminal Court, delivered his charge, in which he made especial reference to the enforcement of the election laws. He declared that every effort should be made to hold a fair election and that election officers should be severely dealt with.

He particularly emphasized that there should be rigid enforcement against every offender, whether he be Democrat or Republican. This, he said, applied to policemen and firemen. In regard to carrying arms on election day, his charge read as follows:

On the sixth day of November, 1905, instead of giving the grand jury the usual charge relating to carrying concealed deadly weapons, I called their attention to the fact that parties because of their fear of the election, were sometimes prompted to do things which might be construed by some as violations of the law, and might not only carry their weapons concealed but openly, and thus invite people to riot and violence. I do not think that the law has the right to bear arms, either openly or concealed, around or about the polls on election day. The right to carry arms in one's own defense, when carried openly, is not a right which the law has the right to bear arms, either openly or concealed, around or about the polls on election day. The right to carry arms in one's own defense, when carried openly, is not a right which the law has the right to bear arms, either openly or concealed, around or about the polls on election day.

the discharge of their official duties, and I say to you now that no man has the right to hold or flourish or use in a riotous or disorderly manner, or in a deadly weapon, or to carry same concealed, and that the going of persons voting places in this city and county with deadly weapons, either concealed or openly carried, is calculated to intimidate voters, create a breach of the peace and be a menace to all good citizens who should be allowed to exercise their right of suffrage in a peaceful and quiet manner.

I instruct you relative to the law in regard to carrying concealed and openly deadly weapons for the purpose of preventing scenes such as are alleged to have occurred in this city and county, and impress upon you the duty now resting upon you to investigate carefully all such cases or offenses committed contrary to law, and where, in your opinion, the law is violated, and you find any one guilty of the offense denounced by the law, that you at once act and find an offender, regardless of who that offender is, what his color may be or to what political party they may belong.

MORE DEPUTIES NAMED.

Sheriff Bullitt Swears In Sixteen Extra Officers.

Sheriff A. Scott Bullitt and Phil D. Thompson, County Clerk, were busy yesterday with their preparations for the election. Sheriff Bullitt appeared before Judge Lincoln and had the oath administered to sixteen special Deputy Sheriffs whom he added to the force of six, which he had sworn in Saturday. Those sworn in yesterday were Sidney Smith, Sam Severance, and Meriwether, Fred P. Hays, James Taylor, James D. Allen, John Wickliffe, Preston Davies, Francis Briscoe, Forest Moss, Ray Mann, James Gambie, and N. K. Kisker and Ray K. Richardson. It is Sheriff Bullitt's idea that he will need about a dozen special deputies in each ward to look after distribution of extra ballot boxes where they are needed. It is feared that in many precincts where the vote will be unusually heavy the regular boxes will not hold them. County Clerk Thompson and a force of his deputies were engaged all day long in the distribution of extra ballot books, stencils, pads, etc., to the clerks of election. In each instance the books were carefully sealed and the election officers this morning when the books were being made to open the voting places.

LITHOGRAPHERS

WHO WERE DETAINED AT ELIS ISLAND ADMITTED.

Decision Based On the Scarcity of This Kind of Skilled Labor.

Washington, Nov. 4.—A hearing of importance to the interests of organized labor and to the employ of lithographers of the country was held to-day by Secretary Straus, Assistant Secretary Murray and Commissioner of Immigration Sargent, of the Department of Commerce and Labor. Recently William Voigt and seven other lithographers arrived at Ellis Island from Europe. They had entered into contracts to work for certain employing lithographers in New York. The men were detained because they were a scarcity of that kind of labor in this country, the employing lithographers having been unable to find men to make a contract with Voigt and his seven companions. This was claimed to be a clear violation of the alien contract labor law. At the conclusion of the hearing Secretary Straus decided that the men should be admitted.

With an enrollment of 140 Sunday-school teachers, the Sunday-school Association of the Jefferson County Teachers' Training Committee began "school" last night for the first time at the Second Presbyterian church. The course of instruction for the teachers will be held every Monday in the Second Presbyterian church, and will continue for several weeks. The committee is anxious to have the case tried as soon as possible.

By 25,000 and Burton Leaders Place Republican Majority At From 5,000 To 8,000.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 4.—The night before the election finds both sides claiming victory. Mayor Johnson, the Democratic nominee, who is seeking a fourth term, demanding three cents, and Congressman Theodore B. Burton, Republican nominee favoring immediate settlement of the street railway company's lease of no less than seven cents for twenty-five cents.

SITUATION IN MASSACHUSETTS.

Republicans Claim a Big Plurality, But Democrats Are Hopeful.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 4.—The eve of the State election in Massachusetts found the Republicans expressing confidence in Gov. Curtis Guild's election by 55,000 plurality. Many Democrats claim that Henry M. Whitney and the rest of the State ticket will be elected by 25,000 and the anti-republican candidate for Governor, and his managers absolutely refuse to comment on the outcome. All the campaign managers, however, agree that the Republicans will continue to control both branches of the next Legislature.

ALL KINDS OF PREDICTIONS.

But Votes Will Be Needed To Decide At Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, Nov. 4.—Anti-boss rule, taxation and alleged maladministration have been discussed in all circles during the local campaign just closed here. Although the election was put in the field, the contest has been between Democrats, headed by Mayor Dempsey for re-election; Republicans, with Col. Leopold Markham as chief candidate; and the City party, a local organization, headed by Frank Fritz, present Vice Mayor.

ELECTIONS IN THIRTEEN STATES

New York City, Cleveland, Frisco and Salt Lake.

Local Elections Keenest Center of Interest.

Leaders On Both Sides Claiming Everything.

THE SITUATION IN NEW YORK.

Washington, Nov. 4.—The elections which take place in thirteen States to-morrow may develop some indication of possible tendencies in the national campaign next year. The fact that contests affecting the national Congress were provided in but few instances has a somewhat depressing effect, but that astute political forecasters expect to find some signs which will be significant is not determinative. There are ten general State elections. The keenest interest felt centers in the contest in New York City, Cleveland, San Francisco and Salt Lake City.

New York Leads In Interest.

In New York the struggle between Tammany and the fusion ticket is regarded as of vast significance. Most of the wagers, few and small at best, turn upon the outcome in that contest.

Next to the New York battle in popular interest comes the municipal contest in Cleveland, Ohio. Both Mr. Burton and Mr. Johnson are personally known here, the former being a member and the latter a former member of the House of Representatives, and the interest is personal as well as political.

Salt Lake receives attention because of the prominence of the Mormon question and San Francisco on account of recent occurrences in connection with the administration of the affairs of that city.

In Massachusetts, Maryland, Mississippi, Rhode Island, Kentucky and New Jersey Governors will be chosen, and in all of them, except New Jersey, full State tickets will be elected. In Virginia, New York, Pennsylvania and Nebraska the election will be for inferior State officers or for members of the Legislature or county officers.

ISSUES IN OHIO.

First Time Voters Have Had Chance At Municipal Officers Only.

Cincinnati, Nov. 4.—Voters in Ohio will to-morrow have the unusual experience of voting at a full election for municipal officers only. The first time such balloting has been possible in the history of the State. Active campaigning was begun on Tuesday, and State up to a late hour to-night, ward meetings being in order in nearly every city in the State. While the leaders of the two parties have been busy with local administration, touching on the enforcement of the liquor and Sunday laws, they have varied to such an extent that partisan victories will scarcely be worthy of the name. Local measures and candidates for office were as predicted when the constitutional amendment providing for separate State and municipal elections was proposed. Boss rule and taxation were to the front in Cincinnati. Cleveland considered local matters, but was more interested in Tuesday's contest, and had a choice of law enforcement and liberalism; a somewhat similar issue has been raised in Toledo, Dayton and other cities have issues largely of their own choosing.

WILL LOUISVILLE PUBLIC LIBRARY GET MORE MONEY.

Ironmaster Refuses Request For $25,000 To Pay For Proposed Mural Decorations.

The application of the board of trustees of the Louisville Free Public Library to Andrew Carnegie for a loan of $25,000 to pay for the mural decorations planned for the main building has been refused by the ironmaster, and unless some new plan for raising the necessary sum can be devised some other form of interior decoration must be employed. Mr. Carnegie, in his letter, informing the trustees that he has given to the Louisville library all the money he cares to spare.

Mr. Carnegie has already contributed $25,000 to the main building and $30,000 to the new building. He has also pledged from his generosity in other cities under similar circumstances to contribute $25,000 for interior decoration. The delay in raising the money is explained by the fact that he was abroad at the time the letter to the trustees was written, and he is now in the city to grant his request, but states that he has already given to the Louisville library as much as to any other city, and that he feels he cannot go beyond that.

FILSON CLUB HEARS ABOUT PREHISTORIC INHABITANTS.

A well-attended meeting of the Filson Club was held at the home of Col. R. T. Durrett last night, about forty members assembling to hear the subject of the evening read by Zachary F. Smith. Mr. Smith had taken for his subject "Prehistoric Peoples of America and of the Ohio Valley," elaborating in his paper the theory of Prof. Henshaw concerning the origin of the earliest Americans and especially of the dwellers in the Ohio valley. Col. Durrett had not been expected to take part in the meeting, owing to an accident which occurred a few days before, when he was thrown to the ground by a loose wire in his yard, breaking his arm at the socket. One of the advanced age, some apprehension was felt that he would not be able to attend, but Mr. Durrett, who is still ailing, says that his condition is progressing nicely.

At that time Mr. Courtney, who was attempting to weld a steel hoop in a repair shop, sustained a head wound by which a piece of iron struck him to a depth and it was impossible for physicians to locate or remove it. It is believed that the recent brain trouble, which came on Mr. Courtney about three months ago, was due to the piece of steel having worked its way to the brain. For several days previous to his death he was in an extremely critical condition and died some days unexpectedly.

URGES ALL TO VOTE FOR HAGER

Rev. Dr. Browder Appeals To Temperance Lovers.

Denounces Story of Deal With Liquor Men.

Hager's Denial Should Satisfy Everybody.

CHARGE WITHOUT PROOF.

Bowling Green, Ky., Nov. 4.—[Special.]—The Rev. Dr. R. W. Browder, of this city, one of the best-known Methodist divines of the State, is greatly incensed over the card issued by Messrs. Young and Collins, in which they charge that Hager has made a deal with the whisky interests.

Dr. Browder is president of the Board of Education of the Louisville Conference of the M. E. Church, and also presiding elder of the Bowling Green district, with a constituency of about 20,000 members. He brands the action of Messrs. Young and Collins as outrageous, and says that every lover of temperance and right should register his disapproval by voting for Hager for Governor. Dr. Browder further gave expression to the following:

Fail To Produce Proof.

"As a member and supporter of the Anti-Saloon League, I unhesitatingly express my disapproval of the statement given out by Messrs. Collins and Young implicating the Democratic party in a deal with the brewers and saloon element. The statement from them given to the public through the Sunday morning papers is equivalent to a grave charge of insincerity and duplicity, unsupported by proof, which as officers of a nonpolitical organization, elected to look after the temperance interests of their constituency, they had no right to make without submitting the fullest proof. Judge Hager's manly denial of such a deal and his repeated declarations that he is in sympathy with the temperance people and his pledge in favor of the county unit measure, should satisfy the most critical and give him the vote of every temperance man of the State. I am unwilling to believe that sober and discreet men will be swept off their feet by this blunder."

LARGEST EVER

Bright Outlook For Development Convention.

MORE THAN ONE HUNDRED DELEGATES APPOINTED.

SPECIAL AND REDUCED RAILROAD RATE OBTAINED.

TO MEET AT GALT HOUSE.

More than one hundred delegates have already been appointed and accepted the appointment for the Kentucky State Development Convention, which will be held in Louisville November 19, 20 and 21. But a week has elapsed since the first invitations were mailed and the Committee on Arrangements for the convention is highly gratified over the interest which is being shown throughout the State. Acceptances have come from every direction and it is assured that the excellent programme which is now being arranged for the convention will be enjoyed by the largest delegation that has ever attended a State Development Convention.

In addition to the large amount of work that has been done with gratifying results on the programme, the Kentucky State Development Association has succeeded through W. A. Russell, chairman of the Committee on Transportation, in obtaining a rate of one fare plus twenty-five cents on every railroad in the State except the L. & N. and St. L. This road has recently instituted a two-cent rate in other States and according to its policy cannot at this time make further reductions. The tickets will be sold, however, on this line from all points in Kentucky on a four-cent-per-mile rate for a round trip.

In addition to the excellent rate granted, the selling dates are arranged for the best convenience of those who may desire to attend the convention. Tickets will be sold November 15, 18 and 19, returnable on November 22.

Where They Meet.

The Committee on Arrangements has selected the Galt House as a meeting place for the convention, and the large dining-room will be used for the convention hall proper, while committee-rooms will be made up of the parlors.

Delegations From Every District.

The smoothness with which arrangements are progressing is very gratifying to the Committee on Arrangements. Many encouraging letters are received each day from members of the Executive Committee throughout the State, and it is now assured that every congressional district will be well represented.

An idea of the size of the delegations can be had from newspaper clippings as follows:

Spirits Labeled Bourbon.

In due case about twenty-five barrels of molasses spirits were shipped from New Orleans to Baltimore, marked "Bourbon Whisky." The department has one barrel of it, so this case is available. However, by reason of the fact that the spirits are being violated by nearly everyone, no difficulty will be encountered in getting up all the cases required on a day or two notice. Secretary Wilson said today that he is ready to get busy as

SPIRITS LABELED "BOURBON."

Washington, Nov. 4.—(Special.)—The procrastination of the Department of Justice in the matter of enforcing the whisky labeling provision of the Pure Food Act, has resulted in the Department of Agriculture having in its hands about one hundred cases which have become useless by reason of the fact that the goods in question have probably been consumed.

Several months ago, when Secretary of Agriculture Wilson was informed of the Attorney General's construction of the law, he immediately directed his agents to begin the work of getting up cases. This was done and the department has them in its possession. Now it is discovered that the cases in question may not be available by the reason that the shipments from one State to another may have been mixed by this time into some other form.

NO REPEATERS IN JEFFERSONVILLE.
"There are no repeaters in this city that have been shipped from Indianapolis," said Capt. M. E. Clegg, Chief of Police of Jeffersonville, yesterday afternoon, "on account of the Republicans of Louisville giving credence to a silly rumor that repeaters sent from Indianapolis to vote the Democratic ticket at the election to-morrow are being harbored in this city. Such a thing would not be permitted in behalf of either party for an election in Kentucky or any other State. When I saw what purported to be a telegram from Indianapolis, yesterday afternoon, I was surprised. I was called up by a man who said he was at the Republican headquarters in Louisville and wanted to know how long I would be at my office. I told him I would be there until noon. He did not give me his name at the time, but said he was coming over as soon as possible and if he did not find me at the police station he would come to my house. I was satisfied that it was so few that I had no idea what he wanted, but supposed there was something worthy of my attention about it. I called off. Repeaters never once entered my head, but I hurried back."

KENTUCKY WINS TEN GOLD MEDALS

AWARDS MADE ON EXHIBITS AT JAMESTOWN.

PROTESTS FILED WITH JURY IN SEVERAL CASES.

STATE WANTS MORE HONORS.

Jamestown Exposition, Va., Nov. 4.—[Special.]—Ten gold medals, eleven silver medals and six of bronze is the record for Kentucky at the Jamestown Exposition. It is expected that this list will yet be considerably augmented, as in some departments the awards have not yet been announced. James L. Farmers, secretary of the jury of awards, today made public the following prizes won by Kentucky:

Gold medal, Kentucky Commission, collective exhibit of corn; Dr. I. W. McGinnis, New Castle, white Burley tobacco; St. Bernard Mining Company, Earlington, timber spruce; and photographic illustration of forest growth; Kentucky Commission, collective mineral exhibit; Wadsworth Stone and Paving Company, Edmonson county, asphalt rock; Ballard & Ballard Company, Louisville, beech installation; Beckwith Organ Company, Louisville, display; National Casket Company, Louisville, installation.

Bronze medal, Havesville Hub and Manufacturing Company, Havesville, wooden hubs; Kentucky Commission, collective agricultural exhibit; Wood, Stubbs & Co., Louisville, field and garden seeds; German Lithographic Stone Company, Louisville, lithographic stone; Nolan Asphalt, Coal and Navigation Company, Edmonson county, asphalt rock; Ohio Valley Pulley Works, Mayfield, all-wood pulleys.

While Kentucky has fared much better in the matter of awards than many of her sister States which had large legislative appropriations for their exhibits, still the Kentucky Commission has seen fit to file a protest with the jury in a number of instances.

Mr. Farmer was not at his office after the awards were announced and it could not be learned when the final sessions of the jury would be held. No awards have yet been announced on State buildings and furnishings.
